

Amy Stone, Board Member, Co-Chair Communications

Consultant, The Alford Group

Preferred Pronouns: she/her/hers

Amy Stone is a consultant with The Alford Group, a professional consulting partner strengthening not-for-profits. Previously, Amy was development manager for Edmonds Center for the Arts.

Amy graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Saxophone Performance from the University of Tulsa, and an MA in Arts Management and MBA with a concentration in Marketing from Southern Methodist University. She serves on AFP Advancement Northwest's Board of Directors and as co-chair of the 2018 National Philanthropy Day event. In her free time, she enjoys reading, photography, travel, arts and crafts, and cooking.